ATRIP TO DUNGENESS

Dungeness is a flat, boundaryless, desolated shingle land where everything is scattered and weathered. The moonlike landscape with relics are often being described as the "end of the world".

- Line up to navigate local fishing boats
- In various random shapes and forms

Jerry Oiller, Local Fisherman

"In the old time, the community was made for fishing families and rock crushers. ...

Now, old industry declined but people from other places come here to fishing all year round and that's when the town gets busy again."

Alison, Artsist, Host of Watch Tower B&B

"I moved from London to here 13 years ago because of Derek Jarman's exhibition at Serpentine gallery. I came here and got so attracted by the sea and the sky...

There really is no social scene here. If we have to go place further in Rye or Hythe. People here don't get chance to meet and mix."
